Common reasons for converting a private foundation to a donor-advised fund:

- Management and reporting has become too demanding
- Burden of keeping up with government regulations
- Difficulty meeting the annual payout requirement
- High costs of maintaining the private foundation
- Preference for anonymity
- Seeking additional grantmaking expertise
- Aspiration to focus on philanthropy, rather than administration

Converting a private foundation is easy:

1 - Board passes resolution to terminate private foundation
2 - Assets distributed to a public charity
3 - Terminate private foundation pursuant to state law*
4 - File form 990-PF

Donor-advised funds offer significant advantages to private foundations:

- Facilitate family or corporate philanthropy with an easy, cost-effective solution.
- Establish a fund with as little as $10,000, using any variety of asset types.
- Avoid the legal and compliance requirements of a private foundation, including start-up costs, annual filing requirements, governance, and annual minimum payouts.
- Leverage the Foundation for fund management, reporting, and grantmaking services.
- Grow the fund over time through a variety of diverse investment options.
- Manage the fund and recommend grants to nonprofits through our online portal, making giving easy and convenient.
- Make grants anonymously, if desired, and avoid the detailed public disclosures of a private foundation, which often generate unsolicited charitable requests.
- Name the fund to retain your philanthropic recognition, as desired.
