Triangle Community Foundation Announces New Board Members and Leadership Additional Members Join as New Strategic Plan is Poised to Roll Out

Research Triangle Park, NC: Triangle Community Foundation is pleased to announce new Board members and Board leadership team as the organization kicks off the 2024-2025 fiscal year this week with in-person orientation.

“We are at an exciting inflection point at the Foundation, and we look forward to the engagement of this new group of Board members as well as leadership team,” said Lori O’Keefe, Foundation President & CEO. “As we prepare to roll out our new strategic plan, we anticipate the fresh eyes and perspective of our Board leadership will push us further.”

The Foundation is welcoming five new Board members:

Elizabeth Arias, Partner, Womble Bond Dickinson LLP. Liz provides a wide array of estate planning, fiduciary litigation, tax planning, and private wealth services.

Kevin Dick, President & CEO, Carolina Small Business Development Fund. Kevin leads a Raleigh-based statewide community development financial institution that provides financial and technical assistance to North Carolina small businesses while engaging in economic development policy research as well as in public and private partnerships within a broad network of entrepreneurial support organizations.

Bernard Hsu, Retired IT Executive. Bernard worked for tech giants including IBM and Lenovo and took an early retirement to focus his time and resources on the Triangle region’s philanthropic sector.

Renee Paschal, Retired Chatham County Manager. During Renee’s time with Chatham County, she built the county’s operating and capital budgeting processes, and currently focuses on her consulting business that specializes in management and budget for local governments and nonprofits.

Stelfanie Williams, Vice President for Community Affairs, Duke University. Stelfanie guides Duke’s engagement efforts to advance the well-being of communities through education, health, housing, employment, and other community partnerships.

In addition to welcoming five new members, the Board leadership team has also changed.

Rebecca Balter is the new Board Chair, Crystal German is Vice Chair, Caroline Abbott is Treasurer, and Vijay Shah is Secretary.
